

A woman with short brown hair and red lipstick is seated on a dark brown tufted sofa. She is wearing a strapless, floor-length grey gown with a full, ruffled skirt. She is looking towards the camera. The room has floral wallpaper with a large floral motif. To her left is a window with white lace curtains. A lamp with a white shade sits on a small table behind her. The overall atmosphere is elegant and classic.

Synopsis book

Dior and His Decorators is the first work on the two interior designers most closely associated with Christian Dior. Like the unabashedly luxurious fashions of Diors New Look, which debuted in 1947, the interior designs of Victor Grandpierre and Georges Geffroy infused a war-weary world with a sumptuous new aesthetica melding of the refined traditions of the past with a wholly modern sense of elegance. Author Maureen Footer recounts the lives and work of this influential trio, illustrated with a trove of evocative vintage photographs. Grandpierre designed Diors first couture house, creating not only the elegantly restrained look of the salons but also the template for the Dior brand, including typeface, logo, and packaging. Both Grandpierre and Geffroy (who worked independently) designed the interior of Diors townhouse. After the couturiers untimely death in 1957, Grandpierre and Geffroy went on to design salons for other couturiers, as well as homes for the likes of Yves Saint
