

A wooden shoe, possibly a clog, with a green sole and a green strap across the foot. The shoe is positioned vertically, with the toe at the top and the heel at the bottom. The wood is light-colored and shows some grain and texture. The green strap is a solid color and is attached to the shoe with small metal rivets or screws. The sole is also green and appears to be made of a different material, possibly rubber or a different type of wood, and is attached to the bottom of the shoe.
